Directors For Festival Announced

The Bach Festival, which was founded in 1935 by Dene Denny and Hazel Watrous, has been incorporated. At a meeting in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Peter Ferrante, the articles of incorporation were drawn up and signed by Dene Denny, Peter Ferrante, Mrs. A. M. Allen, Mrs. Jay Chappell, Mrs. Peter Ferrante, Ralph Linsley, Col. Philip Schneeberger, Mrs. Gastone Usigli and Dr. Mast Wolfson, all of whom will serve as the nine members of the Board of Directors of the organization.

After the papers have been properly filed with the State of California, a second meeting will be called for the drawing up of a set of by-laws and the election of officers. The incorporation will in no way alter the Festival's operating policy, which will be carried on exactly as it has been during the last twenty years under the Denny-Watrous Management.

Dates for the 21st Carmel Bach Festival are July 14 to 20, for which program, artists, and plans are already being formulated and made in conference with the Festival Conductor, Sandor Salgo.

Adult School Offers New Courses In Music And Writing

Two new courses, designed to appeal especially to the tastes and interests of Carmel people, have been added to the curricula of Carmel Adult School, which starts its second semester Monday night. They are creative writing, offered for the first time in several years with James Sharp as instructor; and music appreciation, under the direction of John Farr.

Mr. Sharp is teaching magazine writing, journalism, philosophy and psychology at Monterey Peninsula College. His extensive career included work on newspapers in Ohio and New York City, and on Collier's magazine until he was called into the Army. After serving as infantry officer and in the army public information service, he returned to civilian journalism (Continued on Page Twelve)

CARMEL KNOLLS HEARING POSTPONED TO FEB. 25

Failing to get information on the precise route of Hatton Canyon Freeway, which will cross his proposed subdivision, Wright Fisher asked the County Planning Commission this week to give him more time for filing plans for his controversial Carmel Knolls.

The planning commission set February 25 for hearing on the plans. Mr. Fisher seeks approval of less than one acre minimum building sites.

Carmel Planning Commission, Lower Carmel Valley property owners, and a number of Carmel citizens protested any reduction of the acre minimum Valley zoning at the December 17 meeting of the planning commission, and intend to continue their opposition when the plans come before the commission at the February 25 meet-

Mona Williams' Family Shocked By Her Novel

BY ROSALIND SHARPE

Back from Europe in time to greet the publication of her new novel, The Marriage, lissome, red-haired Mona Williams, who has hitherto been known as a writer for slick paper magazines, feels that people who are familiar with her magazine fiction will be very much surprised by her novel.

Ted Kezeli Buys The Carmel Grocery From The McKinstrys

Ted Kezeli, who owns Ted's Liquor Store in New Monterey. has applied to the State Board of Equalization for a transfer of the Carmel Grocery liquor license, and has purchased the business from the proprietors, Paul and Hazel McKinstry. The transfer of ownership of the business on Dolores Street between Ocean and Seventh will take place February 15, at the latest March 1.

Mr. Kezeti intends to continue the grocery, meat market, and liquor section of the store under a local manager, not yet selected, he told the Pine Cone:

Speaking of the grocery business, he said, "It would be foolish not to continue a well-established business which has built up good will in the community for years.'

Mr. Kezeli, who has been a resident of the Monterey Peninsula for four and a half years, makes his home in Pacific Grove. He has applied for a license and plans to open a liquor store in the Monte Vista shopping center in Monte-

Mr. and Mrs. McKinstry, intend. to work in their garden and take a rest. Later they will take a trip east to visit their married daughter. They are longtime residents of Carmel and have been active in organizational and civic affairs. The Carmel Grocery has been under one ownership since it was founded thirty-five years ago.

"It is entirely different," she says The novel, which comes out tomorrow, exposes to public view things that are ordinarily veiled or kept hidden.

As Mona Williams put it, "Nobody knows really about the inside of any marriage. People present a facade even to their closest friends, even to their children. The substance of any marriage is mystery. No one can know but the two people who are involved in it.

"Have you ever seen," she went on, "a house with one wall burned out? There is a shocking sense of looking inside—at familiar objects such as furniture. This is what I have attempted to do with this novel. The Marriage which has a built-in mystery held in until the last chapter when the denouenent occurs, but most of it has to do with the warp, and woof of every marriage. This book attempts to tear down the protective wall that keeps marriage from the sight of onlookers-and to look inside".

Mona Williams has experienced a great sense of release in writing this book. After years of turning out stories and novelettes for Collier's, the Ladies Home Journal and the Woman's Home Companion, and being forced to conform to the numerous tabus and the school of "sweetness and light", it has been a distinct relief to "write about people as they really are".

"My family is quite shocked at the novel," she added with evident

5 Named To Bond Study Committee, 2 More Before Fri.

The Carmel School Board has so far selected five of the seven citizens who will serve on a committee to study proposed construction and bond issue for Carmel and Tularcitos schools. The five who have been invited to serve have accepted. They are: Peter Ferrante, Eugene Harrah, J. O. Handley, all of Carmel, and George Herbert and Mrs. H. W. Ayers of Carmel Valley.

Friday night at 7:00 o'clock the committee will meet at the high school with the school board, architect and financial advisors.

The board held an executive session after its meeting Tuesday night, and with school authorities from the Valley, drew up a list of citizens from which to select committee members.

Tuesday night the school board tentatively approved preliminary plans for $582,974.89 construction at the high school; $255,382.60 for the elementary schools, cost estimate includes two classrooms for newly annexed Tularcitos in the Valley, though School Architect Thomas Elston had not had time to make preliminary drawings for

It was estimated that the construction, to be completed by September, if financed by 20 year bonds, would represent about 20 cent tax per year for 20 years.

High School plans include: Classrooms: 11 academic classrooms, one general science room, toilet building, connecting corridors, $374,874.04.

Administration: one faculty room, four counseling rooms, one adult education room, one machine record room and attendance area (Continued on Page Twelve)

Gordon Campbell Welcomes Valley Schools To District

Meeting Tuesday night, the Carmel School Board accepted the Carmelo and Tularcitos Districts, which had voted to join the Carmel Unified School District last

About 90 persons were in the audience, at least 60 of whom were from Carmel Valley.

Chairman Gordon Campbell welcomed the Valley districts.

"You will find we have an excellent plant and your children will receive an excellent education. We regard all children of all parts of the district as part of the family. If we didn't take that attitude we would be a very unintelligent board."

Superintendent Stuart Mitchell announced that councillor interviews would be held the latter part of this week at Tularcitos School in the evening, 6:00 to 9:00 o'clock with Valley high school students to determine how many will continue at Monterey High School next fall, Carmel District to pay their tuition.

Open Letter To County Planning Commission

Carmel Highlands Association January 23, 1958

Planning Commission Monterey County, Salinas, California.

Gentlemen:

Following a stormy two hour meeting, attended by a large turnout of Carmel Highlands homeowners, the County Board of Supervisors referred the question of rezoning the Stevens property back to the County Planning Commission for reconsideration.

The County Planning Commission had previously recommended changing the zoning of this property from R-1 (single family residence) to R-3 (multiple dewelling units)

Mr. Brady, representing the Stevens' interests at the hearing, hinted that the Highlanders could abort this proposed rezoning by paying his price for the Stevens property. He stated that in Santa Barbara where he practices law, property owners in the Hope Ranch area buy off those who threaten to despoil the neighborhood. By way of reply, he was told bluntly that citizens in Monterey County do not submit to this sort of pressure to protect their inter-

Notice To Carmel Highlands Residents and Friends

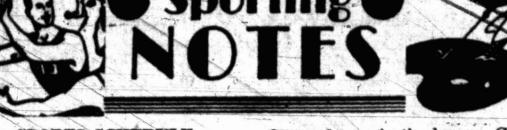

Thanks to a large turnout made at great personal inconvenience, we presented our case in Salinas and we won the first battle. The County Board of Supervisors gave us a sympathetic and patient hearing, at the end of which Supervisor Thomson Hudson made a motion to refer the whole question back to the Planning Commission for reconsideration. This motion was passed unanimously.

The Planning Commission will reconsider this matter of rezoning at 11 A.M., Tuesday, January 28, at the Courthouse in Salinas.

Interested citizens are going to attend this meeting, including those whose property adjoins or is near the Stevens or Bigelow property. Dr. Henry S. Houghton, Chairman of the committee appointed by the Highlands Association, will act as moderator. Those intending to speak should consult him in advance. Other members of the committee are Col. Alfred S. Balsam and John Schroeder, both of the Carmel Highlands.

Those who desire to offer transportation or who need transportation may call Mrs. Marion Douglas, MA 4-7272 or Mr. H. Fletcher Rogers, MA

CARMEL HOOPSTERS TRAVEL TO HOLLISTER FRIDAY NIGHT

Hitting the road for their fourth consecutive game, the Carmel High basketball squads travel to Hollister tomorrow night for a pair of league games with the high-flying Haybalers. The Carmel lads are beginning to feel like the Globetrotters who play all their games on the road. If travel makes the Red and Gray hoopsters play like the Globetrotters they should win a pair at Hollister. However, a look at the league records shows the Hollister squads are near the top in both the lightweight and varsity division and indicates the local preps are in for a tough time at the Haybaler pavilion.

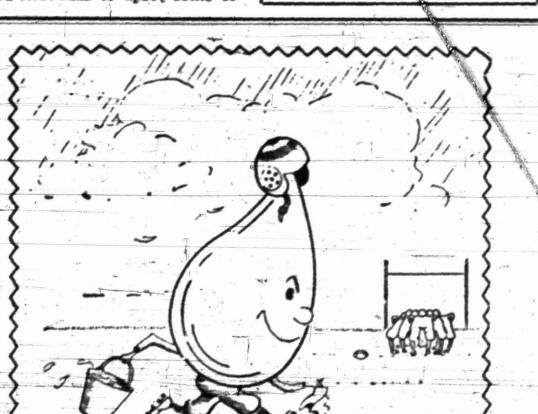

Hollister's varsity quintet started the undefeated Pacific Grove squad on the skids last Friday night, clipping Marty Baskins league-leaders, 48 to 25. Equipped with experienced players at all positions, the Haybalers have good height, better than average speed and fine outside shooters. In Russ Grimsley, Hollister boasts the top center in the league and perhaps in the entire area. This lad stands 6-4 and his experience as a football end makes him rugged in the rebounding department. At the present time, the Haybalers have a 5-1 league record which is good enough to tie Gilroy for first place in the B-division.

The Padre varsity has been a terrific second-half club all season and needs only to put together a solid first-half to upset some of the good ones in the league. Coach Dan Yurkovich enjoyed the play of his charges in their winning effort at King City Friday night and hopes for a repeat of the good effort in the Hollister clash. With only one senior on the starting five, this year's Padre varsity is a junior club which figures to improve with every game, Opening against Hollister tomorrow night will be Phil Durbrow and Bill Hicks, forwards; Dale Dawson, center, and Bill Wallace and Dennis Peavey at the guards. Dennis Peavey's aggressive defensive play has earned him a starting berth on the big club and the scrappy junior rates an accolade as the most improved player on the squad.

Carmel's lightweight platoons will be out to better their 500 average at the expense of the Hayseeds in a 7:00 o'clock preliminary joust. That the Padre lights will have their hands full is evidenced by the job the Hollister Babes did on Pacific Grove, 34 to 17. Hollister and Carmel are currently tied for third place in the lightweight division and the loser of tomorrow night's clash will just about be out of championship contention. Carmel will 'platoon' the Hayseeds with the following squads: David Farr, Russ Wise, John Doud, Pete Osborne, and Pete Willcox; Pete DePetra, harry Dufur, Pat Boyle, David Hansen, and Phil O'Shea; Ron Fair, Toby Edson, Mike Dunham, Walt Helm, and Mike Draper.

Out on the football field, when the team captain calls for a time out, all eyes turn to the water boy and the precious cargo he carries. The players know and appreciate that a drink of water, more than anything, is the best refresher and sustainer.

The amount of water consumed by a football team during one game is infinitesmal compared with the hourly amount of water we supply to all our customers. Nevertheless, whether it is consumed in great or small quantities, you can always be sure that you are getting the safest, purest water available anywhere.

CARMEL CAGERS WIN TWO AND LOSE TWO

Carmel High School's weekend basketball activity saw the Padres drop a double-header to the strong Dive Oak quintets on Friday night and come back Saturday night to upset the King City Mustangs in a pair of league games. The win at King City moved the Padre varsity up a notch in the standings and gives the Carmel lads a 2 won, 4 lost record for league play. The Little Padres by beating King City evened out their league record at 3-3 and are tied with San Lorenzo for third place in the B loop.

Even with Dale Dawson's fine 18-point scoring effort, the Padre varsity couldn't overcome the hustling play of the Live Oak quintet which put on a brilliant exhibition of outside shooting. Live Oak's Bert Blodgett, an accurateshooting forward, banged in 8 field goals and 7 free throws to lead all the scorers in the game. A fine clutch player, Blodgett came through with four consecutive free throws when the chips were down near, the end of the game. Carmel's Bill Hicks played one of his best games of the season, hitting for 16 points and doing a strong job of rebounding. The Carmel squad was down 16 points at the end of the first half but came with a rush in the third period to close the gap to 36-34. Midway in the final quarter, the Padres drew even with the Acorns at 45-45 only to see Blodgett apply the finisher with his four free throws. Final buzzer found the Padres on the short end of a 49-46 count.

Carmel's lightweight squad was stunned by the fast-starting Live Oak Babes who zoomed to a 13-1 lead in the first quarter and never looked back. Tall, fast, and blessed with good shooting arms, the Live Oak lights are the class of the league and have yet to taste defeat this season. Down 17-6 at the end of the first half but put on a good third quarter to whittle the lead to 25-18 at the end of the third quarter. However, the hosts turned on the final period to pull away for a convincing 37-21 vic-

At King City Saturday night, the Carmel teams bounced back in good shape to win a pair from the outclassed Mustains. The Padre varsity parlayed the fine shooting of Dennis Peavey, Dale Bawson, and Bill Hicks into a 43-36 win over the Mustang heavies while the Carmel lights put on strong defensive pressure to finish in front of the Pony squad, 29 to 22. Russ Wise, lanky Padrecito forward, topped all scorers in the lightweight game as he pushed through 4 field goals and 2 free

Carmel basketball fans will have an opportunity to see the red-hot Monterey Peninsula College quatet in action at the Carmel gym on Friday, January 31 when the Lobos play their first-ever game in Carmel. Coach Pete Peletta, dynamic mentor of the rejuvenated Lobos, is doing an outstanding job of selling the Lobo basketball program to the public and is planning to show his team in most of the high school gyms this season. It took her about eight months to complete it.

Many people, she believes, will think her novel, The Marriage, is based on the Williams family, for there are certain superficial resemblances such as the fact that her protagonists, Sam and Amy Styron, have three children, two girls and a boy, who were born in the same order as the Williams' children, Karen, Christopher, and

"The ruthless thing that a writer does," she explained, "is to take fact and fiction and mix them, which seems immoral to the average person. In speaking of her recent European trip, which included many thrilling and exotic experiences, Mrs. Williams remarked, "Everyone says, 'Oh you've got so much wonderful material for stories'. But this is not true. It would be good for a travel article. But it isn't human relationship and human experience. It isn't anything that gives anybody insight into life itself. Sometimes a story can provide insight into life without living it. That's my idea of the best kind of novel. It's a window into life."

In this connection she related an experience she had in Hamburg where she stayed for a week with some Americans, the Clyde Campbells. Mrs. Campbell was the woman champion glider of Europe and naturally she took Mrs. Williams out to the field.

"I didn't want to go up," she said, "a glider has no motor". But she felt when she refused to go up that she had lost face. "The next day I said I would like to go up. It was surprisingly unfrightening. I felt like a bird or a butterfly. As Clare Boothe Luce said, 'I was free of the awful burden of gravity that we carry around with us from birth to death' ".

"But going up in a glider isn't the story," she went on. "The story is: why is it that we have to do unreasonable things, risk ourselves in order to respect ourselves? There are times when moral values do not depend on reason at all. This is the basis of a very interesting story. But it has nothing to do with going up in a glider at all."

Incidentally, this was Mona Williams first visit to Europe and Chris, who was at that time stajust after the end of the courist season In London she saw a great many plays and visited with the Donald Orden Stewarts (Ella Winter of Carmel) who were very thrilled because they had just gotten their passport to travel, which means that they are again free to return to the United States. Mona also spent two weeks in Copenhagen and returned home with Chris, who is finally out of the Army, just in time for Christ-

Open Letter To Co. Planning Commission

(Continued from Page One) his motion to refer the matter back to the Planning Commission stated the Planning Commission had acted without adequate consideration of the recommendations against rezoning made both by the technical staff of the Planning Commission and the Carmel Highlands Advisory Planning Committee. He stated further that the residents of the Carmel Highlands unanimously opposed rezoning the property, and that rezoning this property would furnish a legal peg upon which other residents might compel the Planning Commission to rezone their property.

This actually occurred in the once beautiful Brentwood district in Los Angeles. Homeowners had built up the Brentwood district into the most beautiful residential area in Los Angeles. Then the City Planning Commission was persuaded to permit one parcel to be rezoned from R-1 to R-3, as a

"I used to write the plays for the kids," she said, "and we had all the neighbors in to see the plays. We called ourselves the Juvenile Players. Then when we grew into our teens we became the Junior Players".

She did not go on with playwriting however. When still in Fer teens she took to writing bovels. Armed with one of them she strayed into the offices of a New York publishing house where she met one of the editors, Henry Meade Williams.

The Planning Commission, frightened by the conflagration they had ignited tried to contain the flames. They denied further rezoning. #### Planning Board Firm On Sign Control; Propose New Ord.

Bright colored, reflective, motel dentification signs are undesirable in Carmel was the opinion expressed by Carmel Planning Commissioners yesterday afternoon when they discussed excess sign display with Howard Healey of Town House Lodge. They set a study session on this matter for next Wednesday afternoon.

Pine trees are to go in the planned center planting strip on Junipero Street above Sixth Avenue; the street department should plant native shrubbery to hide boulders on each side of lower Ocean Avenue; the incense cedar presented to the city by former councilman Francis Whitaker should be planted in front of Harrison Memorial Library; and the drinking fountain put where the library board wants it, were recommendations the commission decided to send to the city council.

During the rest of the threehour meeting commissioners granted building permits or approyed land use for 71 new motel units; permitted remodeling of business property for a radio station office and studio; an addition to La Playa Hotel, a store building on Lincoln Street; and division of property in Paradise Park.

Mr. Healey, in a return appearance, asked planning commission approval to display at Town House

Lodge two motel association endorsement signs which, with his name sign, would exceed the 16 square feet of sign display allowed in Carmel business district. The commission recommended disapproval of Mr. Healey's original excess sign application in November and the city council denied his request on December 4. On January 8, Mr. Healey appealed this decision before the council and offered to reduce his excess sign display by five feet and the council sent the matter back to the planning commission for further study. Commissioners Herbert Blanks and Florence Josselyn consulted with Mr. Healey and recommended that he display miniature hand carved motel association endorsement signs instead of those provided by the associations to their members. Mr. Healey told the planning commission, yesterday afternoon, estimates for the carved signs came to $520.

Commissioner Fred Keeble stated that "control of signs was one of the finest achievements in Carmel," and recommended a new ordinance to control display of national type motel signs of undesirable materials. Commissioner Hugh Smith's opinion was that control of sign display was "the second most important aspect affecting the appearance of Carmel." Commissioner Blanks pointed out that in Monterey signs allowed destroyed the appearance of demanded excellent motel design. Building Inspector Floyd Adams asked that "all means possible to formulate a sign policy in Carmel be explored." Commission chairman George Willox set next week's study session, Mr. Healey said he would ask the head of a national motel association, personally, this week, to consider different signs in Carmel and the matter became one of mutual cooperation for "the benefit of the city and citizens" as expressed by Chairman Willox.

The Ashley - Handford travel sency this week began operations in Carmel at new offices on Fifth Avenue, across from the Post Office. Co-owners of the enterprise are Charles S. Handford and James S. Ashley, both of whom have traveled widely, lived and worked in a number of European countries, in the Orient, Near East and Far East. The Ashley-Handford agency will offer world-wide travel service, both domestic and international.

Emerson Smith Urges Professional Status For Real Estate Men

The Carmel Board of Realtors was addressed by Emerson Smith, Field Executive for the National Association of Real Estate Brokers, at its annual installation meeting. The objectives of NAREB were outlined by Mr. Smith with particular emphasis on the number one aim Realtors' becoming professional men, as doctors and awyers.

Mr. Smith pointed out that hundreds of colleges throughout the United States are giving credits in Real Estate courses and a substantial number are now actually giving degrees. Through Field Executives, the California Real Estate Board, and local boards, every effort is being made towards this end. It is hoped that in the foreseeable future this will be attained, he said.

The tremendous growth of Multiple Listing Services throughout the entire country was discussed. The unusual success of the Carmel form of Multiple Listing Service is in no small measure attributed to the experience and history of this type of listing service in other communities, he pointed out. This experience has, in turn, been passed on to the newer services such as that in Carmel.

The NAREB was formed by an association of Multiple Listing Services in 1907, The National Association of Real Estate Brokers therefore is 50 years old.

At the close of the meeting Mr. Smith invited the members to ask questions. The response was so over-whelming the meeting ran 30 minutes late. President James A. Mustard, when expressing his thanks, stated that the board and NAREB are fortunate to have the services of such a personable and well informed field executive. He hoped Mr. Smith could see his way to visit Carmel again before too long as they thoroughly enjoyed his program and have many other

FROM A LIBRARIAN'S NOTEBOOK

By Ruth Galvin Thornburg In response to a suggestion in this column that the library was a logical place for a permanent collection of Weston photographic prints, we have received a beautiful print done by Mr. Weston in 1932. This was a period in his career when his work had a misty atmospheric quality, almost Japan ese in feeling. We shall put it on exhibition soon in the small case in the reading room. We hope sincerely that other gifts of prints will follow it.

Perhaps some of you noticed the absence of the sun dial from the library gardens a week ago. The plain facts are that it was stolen, and lugged a block or so away, and then abandoned. Our street department hunted it up and brought it back to us. It is now anchored with extra heavy concrete and we hope it is back to stay. Some prankster with a weak sense of humor and a strong back, no doubt!

We have the new book by Willy Ley entitled Rockets, Missiles, and Space Travel. It came out first in 1944, and since then has had three complete revisions and twelve printings. So remember not to think you have read it if you read the earlier editions. In this game you have to keep up to date or you are lost.

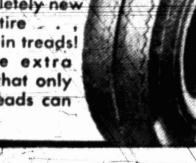

All of us followed the voyage of the second Mayflower with interest and now we have the book about it. It was written by Warwick Carlton who was founder of the adventure. The full account is here, from the building of the vessel to the mooring in Plymouth Harbor after the long voyage was over. Oh yes, the title is The Second Mayflower Adventure.

Once upon a time there was a German doctor who was imprisoned in a British POW camp in the Suez Canal Zone. He escaped and took refuge with a tribe of Bedouins in the desert. There he saved one of the tribesmen from death and as a result was accepted by the tribe and grew to appreciate and love them. Does all this sound like the airlest imaginings of a trite story teller? The odd part is that it is true. The doctors name is Herbert Printzke and the book he wrote to tell of his adventures is called Bedouin Doctor. His escapades are almost unbelievable, but the book is good reading, and well worth your time.

We find the Tomorrow is a quarterly magazine on psychical research which is published in New York for a price of $2.00 per year. Not being familiar with the journal itself we thought we should check up as much as we could. The foregoing sentence is the muchness we could. You see we have this new book called Beyond the Five Senses, which is an anthology from the magazine Tomorrow. It is a collection of short articles on many phases of psychic research. Incidentally, there is an interesting article on ghosts in the White House, which does not prove them either way, but is good reading nevertheless.

Waft yourself into the library for these or other good books. With us books are still basic.

The Time Has Come

by Kippy Stuart

This is the nostalgic period, when the gardens take on the "sere and yellow." It is also the time to look into the memory book and visualize the many persons who have helped build one's garden. Outstanding, in my garden, is Harry Rogers, the expert in laying stone patios and building stone walls. Harry slipped through my garden gate through a ruse. My family was living in a rented house while we built our own, down in Hatton Fields Mesa, and I was struggling to bring order out of chaos. The rented house had not been occupied for some time and the garden had gone to pot. I found a few Carmel stones and was busily laying them into a semblance of order.

Without "by your leave", or without any request, one day at my garden gate I found the most beautiful truck load of stones my eyes had ever beheld! I accepted the gift of the Gods, and busied myself forming new patios and generally hoping that the rightful owner would never appear. No claim was ever made upon that gift of Carmel stone, but the culprit turned out to be a grinning, good natured fellow who introduced himself as Harry Rogers-Harry, with his tongue in his cheek, for this was Harry's way of baiting a new home owner, and did I take the bait, lock, stock and barrel!

My new home, then in progress, was literally stoned to death, and naturally Harry received all my orders for supplies. He taught me to build dry stone walls, to lay flagstones so they never wiggle or lose their stability, he helped me plan my garden and his advice was priceless. Many of the plants now flourishing in my garden are wild flora that Harry Rogers brought to me, and better still, he took me on long trips through the mountains, down the coast and generally taught me the history and native flora of this locality.

The camaraderie that started with a truck load of stones has grown through the years and whenever I am in doubt, or need advice, I hie me to Harry, and he has never failed to guide me to my objective.

Many years after the initial load of stones, I was thinking back as to just how I had gotten so sold on stone - this - and Stone that, I remembered that I had never thanked the donor enough for his initial gift.

"Harry", said I one day, "I will always be grateful to you for your wonderful gift of rock. That load must have cost you quite a bit."

That tongue-in-the-cheek expression crossed Harry's face as he replied. "Oh that? Think nothing of it. That was all scrap rock we call 'two-fers' that we generally throw away. I didn't want to carry the truck load back to the valley, so I dumped it at your garden gate."

Drizari's Novel Is Bright With Action And Exotic Color

Song of Irena is the title of the romantic novel by Carmel author Nelo Drizari released last week by Pageant Press, Inc., of New

Mr. Drizari is president of the local branch of the California Writers' Club and lifetime honorary president of the Bay Area Writers' Club. Song of Irena is his first full length novel and his sixth published work. He is of Albanian parentage, a graduate of Columbia University's Pulitzer School of Journalism and has been a newspaper reporter and editor as well as a radio script writer and editor. During World War II, Mr. Drizari served as head of the Albanian desk of the Office of War Information. He also lectures and paints and has had one-man shows of his pictures in San Francisco and Oakland.

Gladys Silva reviews the book as follows:

Like a colorful, many-shaded plaid this love story is designed to attract the readers' of romance and adventure who are fascinated, too, by old world patterns of derring-do and political intrigue.

The story covers only three days' time and the reader of necessity, follows breathlessly From early in the book when the peasant girl, Irena, and Rej, her fiancee, plot their troth, up il their wedding in the last chapter, each incident is high-lighted by so much emotion that time unfolds with comfortable consistency.

The action takes place in socalled modern All ania where there ere still political tensions and touches of age-old barbarism. Zalo, the young renegade son of an Albanian war hero, a leader of a movement against the Government has cast covetous eyes on e beautiful Irena. After some terrorizing shenanigans he kidnaps Rej's rescue of his sweetheart is the epitome of ingenuity and bravery, and consummated with stupendously swift-moving action. It is the kind of writing that keeps the reader's eyes flashing from gun to stiletto to sword.

The author has woven warmth and pathos with his swashbuckling and high-handed adventures. The treacherous killing of Irena's father gives sympathy and tenderness. Humor takes over the picture of the loyal, cooperative peasants going to the rescue disguised in sheep skins.

The Song of Irena is satisfying entertainment.

On January 17, the Carmel Teachers Association met in the afternoon at Woods School. Speakers were Dean Ross and Agnes Mills who discussed and answered questions concerning the CTA Central Coast Section budget and function, and the Classroom Teachers Association, respectively.

Mrs. Mills touched upon some of the goals to strive toward in teaching and stated that "quality teaching should be the key to progress". She explained that the Classroom Tacher Association was organized to "lend strength and power to the teaching profession and bring classroom teachers in a bond of cooperation". She further explained that there were six regions in the nation and that California was in the Southwest region. A national executive board exists and a yearly conference is held of all state representatives where resolutions are discussed and passed and other business attended to. This group studies various problems in education and attempts to take a stand on them. It also affords protection to teachers who may be unemployed for various reasons.

Mr. Ross explained generally the services that his office undertook and commented in detail upon the CTA Central Coast Section budget. He presented figures indicating the amount of money held by the organization, some of the things the money had gone for in the past and an idea of future

Music On The Peninsula

BY MARY LINDSAY-OLIVER

The recital of Grant Johannesen, the pianist of Norwegian descent born in Salt Lake City and famous today as an artist of the first rank in the world's principal cities, was the third event of the Monterey Peninsula Concert Association's series. His program of Bach, Beethoven, Debussy, Grieg and Prokofiev was made up of unhackneyed compositions and expressed with great individuality. Though Johannesen was heard here in Carmel not long ago, his playing has meanwhile developed still greater tonal values with his poetic and robust expression and terrific speed that is startling. Only a great artist could have played the Bach Fantasie in C minor as he did, for it took on the precipitation and climaxes of compelling altitudes which characterised his whole performance, as well as the mere whispers of poetic pianissimos. The seldom heard Beethoven Sonata Op. II. was enhanced without pause between the movements, thus sustaining a greater continuity and concentration for the listener. Two Debussy etudes — "contrasting sonorities" and "five-finger exercises" were not only extremely interesting, but the comedy of the five-finger phrase recurrent in the second was fascinating. The composer's L'Isle Joyeuse was compassed with a poetic insight. The fiftieth year anniversary of Grieg's passing was appropriately honored in his Ballade Op. 24, comprising variations on a Norwegian melody in Grieg's charming harmonies, which however would have gained with less dynamics. The pianist's manner of interpretation was apt to be similar in every composition. The dissonant fireworks of Prokofiev's Sonata No. 7 stirred the full house to demand many recalls to which Johannesen responded with the Strauss Traumerie and two Chopin preludes, the last being the short melody everyone knows.

Another great artist is due on February 10 - Ulrich Schnabel to play Beethoven with the Monterey County Symphony Orchestra and also give a Chopin number. Since Schnabel fills the great Festival Hall in London which seats thousands, surely the houses here and in Salinas should be packed! The Symphony Association is fortunate to have secured

The Monterey County Symphony Orchestra, directed by Gregory Millar, and Karl Ulrich Schnabel, piano soloist, are appearing as guest artists on the Salinas Concert Series on February 11, following their third concert this season at Sunset School Auditorium on February 10.

O'KEEFFE HAS SURGERY POLICE STILL BAFFLED

Walter F. O'Keeffe, proprietor of a home furnishing store in Carmel, had an operation yesterday for head injuries received on December 19 in a beating in his home on San Carlos Street.

A Salinas neurosurgeon and Monterey plastic surgeon, treating O'Keeffe in a Salinas hospital, say further surgery is necessary to repair skull and scalp damage. A brain abcess has responded to treatment and a brain operation will not be necessary, according to the neurosurgeon.

East week Mrs. O'Keeffe was appointed guardian of the estate and person of her husband by Superior Court Judge Stanley

Police investigations have failed to discover O'Keeffe's assailant, in spite of laboratory checks by the FBI and the California Identification and Investigations Bureau or checks by the Army's Criminal Investigation Division at Fort Ord. O'Keeffe knows but refuses to tell who attacked him, Carmel police maintain.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE SERMON The fact that the healing, saving power of the Christ, Truth is always present will be explained at Christian Science services Sunday.

The Lesson - Sermon entitled "Truth" will include the following from Matthew (9:35): "And Jesus went about all the cities and villages, teaching in their synagogues, and preaching the gospel of the kingdom, and healing every sickness and every disease among the people."

Correlative selections to be read from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy include the following (494:30): "Our Master cast out devils (evils) and healed the sick. It should be said of his followers also, that they cast fear and all evil out of themselves and others and heal the sick. God will heal the sick through man, whenever man is governed by God. Truth casts out error now as surely as it did nineteen centuries ago. All of Truth is not understood; hence its healing power is not fully demonstrated."

Sport Notes

Carmel High School's basketball teams, lightweight, junior-varsity, and varsity, found out why Santa Cruz is leading the A-division of the CCAL when they journeyed to the Surf City Tuesday afternoon. All three Padre squads were given a hoop lesson by the classy Santa Cruz cagers and the point spread was over 20 in each game. The Cardinal hoopsters aren't the big rangy type but they certainly can run fast and jump high. Should be a real tussle tomorrow night when Monterey visits the Santa Cruz Auditorium.

Monterey's Junipero Memorial High School appears to be headed for a rare undefeated basketball season as the Cardinals have win number 12 behind them and nothing tough coming up in the near future. An indication of the strength of the Junipero squad is the victory over the classy Santa Cruz High varsity. Junipero has beaten all the A-division schools of the CCAL, except Monterey, and has toyed with the B-league opponents. Monterey and Junipero are not scheduled to meet in regular competition but since both schools are entered in Carmel's. Invitational Tournament, there is a strong possibility this 'natural' will materialize during the tournament.

Track Trophy Fund Set Up In Memory Of Fred Mylar

Many friends of the late Fred Mylar, former Carmel postmaster and for many years a dedicated worker for the Carmel Red Cross and the Carmer Volunteer Fire Department, did not get around to contributing to the Red Cross Mersorial of home hospital equipment before the fund was closed. For this reason, a Fred J. Mylar Athletic Fund was set up this week, to provide a permanent trophy, and three trophies to be awarded each year for three outstanding track athletes at Carmel High School.

"This fund will serve as a memorial to a man who took a sincere interest in the young people of Carmel, and as an inspiration for athletes who desire victory through good living," said William Giles, treasurer of the fund.

our track and field athletes who put in many long hours of training and practice, and are not rewarded by the large cheering sections that other sports enjoy. Three awards will be made each year, one to the outstanding man in the distance races, the dash, and the field events.

"It may also be used to assist an outstanding athlete to participate in certain events, and whatever other purposes seem advisable to the trustees of the fund."

Postmaster Fred Strong is president; Buz Rainer, high school track coach, secretary; William Giles, treasurer, and Ted Durein, vice president.

Contributions may be sent to The Fred Mylar Athletic Fund, Box 1000, Carmel; or given to any of the above officers.

Right To Work Petition Nears 500 Signatures

John Morse's recommendation to the city council last week to refuse to put the right to work initiative on the municipal ballot, Captain H. M. Gleason and his Carmel Right to Work Committee continued this week to get signatures on their initiative petitions to present to the council when it meets on February 5.

Though the committee needs only 285 signatures of registered voters, 10 percent, to have a legal initiative petition, and have long passed that mark, they continued to work this week.

We're shooting for 500, and we almost have them," said Captain Gleason.

Last week the city attorney told the council that it was not required "to put an illegal ordinance on the ballot." In his opinion it is not in the jurisdiction of cities to pass such an ordinance. The fourth appellate court ruled against the Palm Springs right to work ordinance last week on the jurisdictional grounds, among others,

Captain Gleason points out that other courts have upheld the right of counties to pass right to work ordinances; also that Carmel's proposed right to work ordinance is not modelled on Palm Springs' but on Tehama County's which has survived in superior court.
